

Sleek and super cool: the Scribolino school fountain pen in black with blue accents

When your little ones go to school, they need school pens that reflect their level of development but are also fun. Thanks to their beautiful design, children are proud to use and show off Faber-Castell Scribolino products, which also help them complete their complex tasks.

The school fountain pen provides the ideal support for little hands: its asymmetric grip zone and robust nib with iridium core tip mean primary school children can write safely and securely. The pen cap with its triangular shape prevents the pen rolling away, while the viewing holes let you keep a check on the ink level. The Scribolino school fountain pen for both left and right-handed children takes standard cartridges and is now available in the classically cool black and blue colour combination.
